Environmental Education and Training Partnership (EETAP)

“An Environmental Education Information Provider compiles resources and information from a variety of sources for the purpose of providing these resources and information to users. The information may concern the processes, techniques, methodologies, history, philosophy, theories, types of funding, resources, issues, materials, or programming used for environmental education in any setting. The provider may be a public, private, commercial, or non-profit entity. The information may be provided in any format (written, electronic, audio-visual, etc.) and is factual and objective in its presentation.”

The providers listed on the other side of this brochure have self-identified as Environmental Education Information Providers. This is not an exhaustive list, and changes are expected.

A full directory of these providers is available. If you would like a copy, have an organization you would like to have included in the directory, or have any changes please contact:
